Salt Lake Hopeful at the Business Outlook.

New York, March 15.—Silver, 50 7/8; Lead, $3.10.

SALT LAKE, March 15.—Business men in this city are hopeful and optimistic in their views of the coming season, and believe that within a very few weeks a new era of business prosperity will set in. Money is easier now than it has been for a year past and many of the business houses and banks have just declared dividends.

A dispatch from Chicago last night says there is some talk among the Western Passenger Association lines of requesting Chairman Caldwell to order a boycott of the Union Pacific. Notwithstanding the denial of that line, it is held responsible for the existing demoralization in California traffic.

DENVER, Colo., March 15.—This has been a day of most intense excitement here, scenes unparalleled in the history of the city being witnessed. Governor Waite, of "Blood to the Horses Brills," fame, called out the first regiment, to attach the city hall and drive therefrom the two police commissioners who defied his power, entrenched behind barricaded doors, and surrounded by hundreds of armed policemen and deputy sheriffs, ready to do their bidding. This critical situation has been brought about by the determination of Governor Waite to oust the two members of the Fire and Police Board, Jackson Orr and D. J. Martin, whom he removed for protecting gambling houses, and placed in office their successors, D. D. Barnes and Dennis Mullins. Massed in the vicinity of the city hall, were thousands, most of them being drawn to the spot out of mere curiosity, and reckless of the danger that seemed imminent.

Part of the policemen, armed with revolvers and clubs, were drawn up in line outside the hall, awaiting the approach of the enemy. Inside were the remainder and a large force of deputy sheriffs, armed with rifles and shotguns and determined to hold the fort at any sacrifice.

At 11:45 p. m. Governor Waite called the National Guards of the State to his assistance. Matters are threatening in the extreme. To-day (Friday) the Governor will call all the state troops out and will renew his attempt to install the new police commissioners in office.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Bland's seigniorage bill passed the Senate yesterday by a majority of thirteen, and now only awaits the President's signature in order to become a law.

The trial of Colonel Breckinridge was continued yesterday. Damaging evidence was given against the "Star of Kentucky."

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 15.—The Industrial Army still threatens trouble here and the march to the National Capitol may commence at any time.

LONDON, March 15.—Lord Roseberry is reported to have restored harmony in the ranks of the Liberal party, and the crisis of the past few weeks has passed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 14.—Senator Shoup appeared before the Senate Committee on Finance yesterday in the interest of lead miners. He made an argument in favor of an increased duty on lead and in behalf of his commercial sampling amendment. He called the attention of the committee to rumors that influences were at work to have even the insufficient protection afforded by the amended bill stricken out, and assured the committee that his people so far from being satisfied with three quarters of a cent were loud in their protests and demands that the duty should be returned.

CONCORD, N. H., March 14.—Returns from the annual town elections show unexpected and large Republican gains in every direction. Towns that for years have been Democratic have gone Republican, in many instances, by large majorities.

RIO JANEIRO, March 14.—The insurgent forces deserted Fort Vallegangon on Monday night, leaving their flags flying, and took refuge on the Islands of Encarnadas and Paqueta. There was not a soul on board the rebel ships during the bombardment yesterday. Admiral Da Gama left the harbor on board a French vessel. It is not known whether the Admiral is still on board. All the insurgent officers, except the surgeons, have fled. President Peixoto ordered 500 rebel prisoners liberated from jail to-day. Everybody is keeping a holiday on account of the end of the war.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The Navy Department has tested the first armor plates completed by the new Harveyizing plant of the Carnegie works. The plates do not represent a particular lot designed for a vessel, but are experimental plates. The experiment was conducted by the Government proving station at Indian Head, and the tests were satisfactory.

DURANGO, Mex., March 10.—The stock ranch of Peiro Sanchez, fifty miles west of here, was the scene of a desperate affray between a band of brigands and a force of employees, led by Mr. Sanchez, who made a strong resistance to the attack of the brigands. The outlaws were expected and when they rode up to the main residence of the ranch and demanded money the guards opened fire. The robbers were taken by surprise and two were killed. The fight was kept up for three hours and resulted in the bandits being driven off, and leaving four killed and five wounded.

CHICAGO, March 10.—Marcus Pollasky, a former Californian, is said to have solved the problem of rapid transit for Chicago and to have already interested in his plan men of the necessary financial strength. His scheme is the building of a tunnel under the streets of the city, through which connection will be made with all the elevated roads. The estimate of completing the tunnel will not exceed $2,000,000.

The Pioche Political Club.

A special meeting of the club was held Wednesday evening at their rooms in Joe Cook's livery stable, to consider the action of Congress in not passing a free coinage bill as desired by the club, and for inquiry into the cause of the general stagnation of trade and the great suffering and distress that pervades the country at large.

A large gathering of our most influential townsmen responded to the call and every seat was early occupied. The meeting was called to order by Joe Cook chairman, who, in his usual polite manner stated the object of the meeting and suggested to open with prayer which was immediately frowned down and the debate opened. Half a dozen members jumped to their feet each desirous of airing himself for the special benefit of the rest. The floor was given to the member from upper main street who prefaced his remarks by alluding to the odium that had been cast upon him for his advocacy of that noble and humane man Grover Cleveland. He said he would like to know if he was not a true friend of silver had not silver been in use since Adam was a boy, had it not grown gray in centuries of use and ought it not to be retired and given a rest even though millions suffer, what had that great and noble man done for suffering humanity, (a voice, what ain't he done), for his part if the country was only prepared he would assist him to a top knot. This remark caused an uproar and the whole body were at once on their feet and gesticulating at the same time. This commotion gave the gentleman from the cemetery an opportunity to go into the next room for consultation with a heavy wool grower, when, the tumult having subsided the two members resumed themselves smelling like a superannated distillery. The wool grower obtained the floor and said if the chair consented he would deliver the proceedings with a little music, without waiting for permission he produced an ancient looking flute, which had evidently been in the ark with Noah, and proceeded to play the tune of "and with joy we'll get blind drunk when Grover comes hobnobbing home."

Here the horses in the stable began such a racket with their feet that the music could not be heard he was thanked by the chairman who suggested that the balance of the entertainment be postponed until the musician returned to the sagebrush and coyotes.

The gentleman from the Chinese domitory now had the floor and said he had a powerful inquiring mind and would ask the chair if he knew where the battle of Waterloo was fought, this was deemed irrelevant and was at once ignored.

A member from the back street was the next speaker. He said he would like to have a small place on that floor to sit his views. He had been expiring of late in Monkey Wrench. It was a great country, greater than he had ever visited and he had been in Goshen. There was plenty of work for those who were able to put up with a slim diet. Experts were as thick as blackbirds and if they all purchased, the legislature would have to annex part of Arizona. He regretted the talk about litigation and said that if that should come to pass it would leave them helpless. He thought Lincoln county beat anything out of doors, what with her bonded debt and taxation she could hold her own with any of them and if Congress was not satisfied she was ready at any time to secede. The member from the cemetery got the floor and asked the chairman for permission to ask the late speaker one question and he would wind him up in two seconds. Who ever heard of a county seceding, where would they secede to? He wished it to be distinctly understood that he was a man of culture and refinement, had been in every college of note in the United States and had been in Ann Arbor three years but did not state in what capacity, whether as a chum of the president or employed in the kitchen.

A gentleman named Bob moved that as the hour was getting late an adjournment be made which was unanimously carried.

The Dewey System.

The Dewey system of cataloguing a library was devised by Mr. Melvil Dewey, at present director of the state library. In it all books are classified into a certain number of principal subjects, which, in alphabetical order, receive numbers; for instance, astronomy may be 1. Then the subjects are divided, and each division receives a decimal; for example, history may be 1.1; thus the history of astronomy is numbered 1.1.1. The divisions are further subdivided, and each subdivision receives a number expressing hundredths. Books on the history of astronomy in America might be 1.1.1.2.

After these come, when necessary, further subdivisions still, and then, in practice, come the shelf marks, which show where the book is to be found. The system, theoretically, is perfect; practically it is cumbersome, and, except to the cataloguer, unsatisfactory. Adapted in various ways, it is used in many libraries. However.—New York Sun.

Crystallized nitrogen is one of the greatest chemical curiosities. By cooling nitrogen gas down to 367 degs. below the freezing point, and then allowing it to expand, solid snowlike crystals are formed.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Correspondence of THE RECORD.

WASHINGTON, March 8, 1894.

Representative Groat, of Vt., in a speech on the Pension Appropriation bill, now before the House, presented some statistics showing the Pension policy of the present administration to be against the veterans, in a manner that could not be truthfully contradicted. He presented figures showing that pensions are granted only one-fourth as fast by Commissioner Lochren as they were by Commissioner Ramm, the latter rejecting on an average only one case out of every four applications, while the former rejects two applications for every one granted, in order to carry out the policy mapped out by Mr. Cleveland, of reducing pension payments by withholding certificates that should properly be issued. He called attention to the recent Democratic estimate that $25,000,000 would remain unexpended at the close of the present fiscal year out of the appropriations for pensions, "and significantly enough" said Mr. Groat, "that is just about the amount Speaker Crisp said, in his speech in favor of the tariff bill, would be saved by reducing expenses." No Democrat attempted to reply to these statements, but Mr. Meredith, of Va., made a foolish speech in which he repeated Mr. Cleveland's libel of there being thousands of fraudulent pensioners, and he went a step further and said that he had personal knowledge of these frauds. He was interrupted by Mr. Funk, of Ill., who told him that if he knew of a fraudulent pensioner and failed to denounce him to the authorities he was not a good citizen, to which he, after blustering and talking about fighting, made the childish reply that he was not required to act as a spy or an informer and that he declined to do so. Now wasn't that like a Democrat?

It is certain that no administration of the United States was ever so universally condemned after one year of power as that of Mr. Cleveland is. Here are a few of the condemnations of it by members of Congress: Senator Teller—"the most signal failure of any administration we have ever had;" Senator Peffer—"has been a series of blunders that might have been avoided;" Senator Wilson—"I do not think the country will want a repetition of such an administration. There is no doubt whatever that we shall have a change;" Senator Cullum—"has been most unfortunate, and characterized by a greater number of blunders than have occurred under any other administration; Senator Dolph—"has proven a disastrous failure, having no parallel in our history;" Senator Power—"Mr. Cleveland's free trade policy has made the cup of the American working men full of misery; Senator Proctor—"the esteem in which the people hold Mr. Cleveland's first year of administration is shown by the recent election in Pennsylvania;" Senator Higgins—"for our present miseries we have to thank the Democratic party, which is, it seems, never so happy as when trying to run a sword through our industries;" Senator Pugh (Democrat)—"I condemn Mr. Cleveland's financial policy in toto;" Senator Frye—"his Hawaiian policy and his attempting to force the Wilson bill through Congress have wrecked his party, and to this extent Mr. Cleveland is a public benefactor; Senator Hale—"the only hope of business men is the expected total overthrow of the Democratic party at the fall elections;" Senator Manderson—"a miserable and lamentable failure;" Senator Platt—"incompetent and bad;" Representatives, Bowers—"may the good Lord save us from three more such years;" Bingham—"the last but the good esteem of the people by his pique and bitterness as well as by his attempts to control the Legislative branch of the Government contrary to the Constitution; Payne—"the only good thing accomplished is the demoralization of a party which placed it in power;" Walker—"the record of the year is little short of disgraceful;" Hepburn—"no administration has ever gone out of power so little regretted as will that of Mr. Cleveland;" and Marsh—"has been a hell upon earth."
